

Summer 2019

We urge our Customers to prepare for Power Outages

As we prepare for possible power outages by PG&E this year, we are urging customers to understand the potential effects on water service and make necessary preparations. We do have a backup diesel generator and are hoping to keep you with water during the duration which is unknown. We have been assured by our diesel provider they will have us on a high priority to continue to provide us service during outages.

We're asking you to also be on a high water conservation and limit water usage to critical public health and safety needs during these times, this will help maintain water supply.

- If you have a booster pump at your residence you will need to have your own backup power source.
- Have a 3-5 day emergency supply of drinking water available
- Sign up for alerts about Public Power Shutoff by going to www.prepareforpowerdown.com

Safe summer to all,
